CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

Animals ready for homes

152 cats

76 dogs

1 guinea pig

1 rabbit

2 hamsters

It always touches our hearts when someone calls or comes in to report that they've lost their beloved dog or cat. Sometimes this is a result of being irresponsible and making it easy for the pet to escape. But, more often, it's a matter of a little mistake that leads to the dog or cat getting out and running away. Reuniting a pet with its owner is one of the happiest times in the Shelter and we know we could do it much more often if people would just get their pets microchipped.

Microchipping involves inserting a tiny chip under the pet's skin, usually between the shoulder blades. It is painless (although some pets do briefly object). The chip contains a unique number that can be tracked right back to you, the owner. We are always so happy to find a microchip when we get a stray into the Shelter. But, in at least half of the cases we find that the owner has not kept up with the registration on the microchip and our search leads us to a dead end.

Both the lack of a microchip and the outdated registration can so easily be overcome. On the first Saturday of each month, the Flagler Humane Society offers very low cost vaccinations and microchips. No appointment is necessary and we can help you make sure that your pet's vaccinations are current. We also offer microchips for $25 and that might be the best investment you ever make to protect your pet.

But, that's not the end of your job. Once the microchip is inserted, you need to contact the company that issues the chip and register with them. They will want to know your name and address, your pet's name, who they should contact if they cannot locate you, and other such information. If you move or any of the information you've provided changes, you need to make sure that the microchip company has that updated information.

To be doubly sure, we have found another company that will register your animal for free. Information about that company will be given to you when you have your pet microchipped at one of our monthly clinics.

Don't let your pet end up at a shelter or with Animal Control with no way to get it back to you. We love reunions and we know that you and your pet do, too!

Special Announcements

- June 1st: Vaccine and Microchip Clinic at the Shelter. No appointment necessary; just show up between 1 and 3. Dogs must be on leashes and cats in carriers.
- June 8th: Our first annual Poker Run. We start at the Black Cloud Saloon and end up there for an after Run party. There are great prizes, music, food, and wonderful company. Bring your pet and your friends. Come out and have a good time while helping all the homeless animals at the Flagler Humane Society!!!

Pet of the Week

DIESEL

Diesel is a 2.5 year old, neutered male, Terrier mix. He is a sweet boy that would prefer to be in a home with no other pets. He is "Single and Loving It" and would like to remain that way. He is great with all people and loves to play. He will gaze lovingly into your eyes and make you give him lots of treats because you can't help it! He loves to have his "people" time. He enjoys long nature walks. He would love to be a welcome addition to someone's family.

Palm Coast City Manager Jim Landon receives statewide Career Excellence Award

Palm Coast, Fla. – Palm Coast City Manager Jim Landon has received the Florida City and County Management Association’s Career Excellence Award, an award given annually to a member of the association whose overall career exemplifies a commitment to excellence.

Landon was nominated by Mayor Jon Netts, the City Council and staff based upon his commitment to fostering representative democracy; for his innovation in creating a Leadership Intern Training Experience (LITE) bringing management and employees together to work creatively on projects not normally undertaken as routine employee functions; and for his creative, progressive insight.

“Jim is clearly bringing his management team and employees together in an out-of-the box way to solve problems and improve the city,” said FCCMA President Joyce Shanahan, who presented the award to Landon at the association’s annual conference in Orlando on May 24.

Mayor Netts said Landon’s philosophy of creating interdepartmental teams to work on specific City initiatives such as economic development, parks and trails, and special events has enhanced quality of life in Palm Coast.

“Not only have employees grasped a better understanding of government and community issues, but they’ve also developed thoughtful, productive options and solutions,” Netts said. “The partnerships have encouraged employee buy-in of Palm Coast’s goals and objectives and enhanced morale and confidence.”

“Jim Landon is a progressive City Manager with a creative vision, and I congratulate him for this well-deserved honor,” the mayor said.

Landon became City Manager of Palm Coast in January 2007. Before coming to Palm Coast, Landon served as city manager of Lancaster, Texas, for nearly five years and previously held city manager positions in Missouri and Oregon. He began his career as a land use planner for Clark County (Las Vegas), Nevada, then held planning positions in Colorado and Oklahoma. With that strong background in planning, Landon now specializes in development, infrastructure and planning – all important issues for fast-growing Palm Coast.

A native of Arizona, he grew up in Klamath Falls, Oregon. He received his undergraduate degree in geography from Oregon State University and earned a Master of Public Administration from the University of Colorado Denver. He and his wife, Tresea, have two grown children and a granddaughter.

Owners, operators of new small businesses warned of scam

Palm Coast, Fla. – Small business owners are being warned that a Florida company is attempting to deceive unsuspecting small business owners that have just filed a new corporation or LLC in Florida and receive money by pretending to be the Secretary of State of Florida.

The SmallBiZ website, which provides information resources to small businesses, recently issued a scam alert.

SmallBiZ warns that “Florida Center of Corporations” is sending letters to newly formed Florida INCs and LLCs indicating, “You have one step left to receive your Florida Certificate of Status.” The small business is instructed to complete its filing by filling out a stub and mailing back “to the corporation’s center with your payment of $54.47 to complete your articles of organization certificate.”

“Florida Center of Corporations” is not affiliated with the Secretary of State of Florida. The only service the company is providing is to obtain a Certificate of Status (or good standing) from the Secretary of State of Florida. The state only charges either $8.75 (for an INC) or $5 (for an LLC) for this.

Palm Coast's municipal access station, TV199, wins national awards for videos

Palm Coast, Fla. – The City of Palm Coast has received four national awards for videos about the City's sports initiatives for economic development, QR Code project at Graham Swamp, and the success of having employees do more City work in-house.

The videos were produced by the city's municipal access television station, TV199, with all scripting, storyboarding, filming and editing done by Video Production Coordinator Tom Hanson and Digital Communications Coordinator Jason Giraulo.

The TV199 team received three Communicator Awards – the leading international awards program honoring creative excellence for communications professionals. The annual Communicator Awards, in their 19th year, are governed by The International Academy of Visual Arts (IAVA). They are presented for projects that exceed industry standards in quality and achievement.

The Communicator Awards received this year were:

- 2013 Silver Award of Distinction (Government Relations): Bringing It In-House – The City of Palm Coast takes pride in its talented workforce and the money that is saved from tackling projects on its own. This video presents the scope of those accomplishments. View on YouTube at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VtBt8VA4rf4>.
- 2013 Silver Award of Distinction (Outdoor/Environmental – Non-Traditional): The QR Code Project – Residents and visitors to Graham Swamp Trail can get info about the environment and the City's extensive trail system at six QR Code stations. This video celebrates the launch of this Green Team initiative, while recognizing how wonderful quality of life is in Palm Coast! View on YouTube at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gOGHUIgh0fl>.
- 2013 Silver Award of Distinction (Government Relations): Prosperity At Work: Sports – Sports are very important in Palm Coast, not only to players and families, but to local merchants, as well. This video details the City's economic development successes in attracting regional and national sports events to Palm Coast. View on YouTube at http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=grtGIV_gRfU.

The Trek It Out – The QR Code Project video also took top honors in the 2013 People’s Telly Awards in the Outdoor/Environmental category. The Telly Awards are given for the finest film and video productions, groundbreaking web commercials, videos and films, and outstanding local, regional, and cable TV commercials and programs.

This is the first time the City of Palm Coast has won a People’s Telly, which is judged by the online community as a hosted video via the Telly Council’s YouTube channel. Videos can win Silver (Excellence) or Bronze (Distinction) awards based on the number of votes they receive. Palm Coast’s video won a Silver award.

“We are honored and excited to receive this prestigious recognition from the IAVA and Silver Telly Council, and we share these honors with our colleagues in the City and with our citizens,” Hanson said.

“When we start out to do a video, we do not have awards in mind,” he said. “Our job is to use the power of video to convey what our City is about...its people, families, activities, accomplishments and workings. Therefore, the quality of our videos is reflected in the quality of the people, their individual dedication, and the stories they are creating to make Palm Coast a great place to live, or to visit, or as our tagline goes, to ‘Find Your Florida’.”

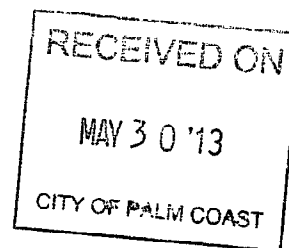

Videos produced by Palm Coast’s TV199 can be viewed on the city’s YouTube channel at <http://youtube.palmcoastgov.com> and on the channel’s Video on Demand Service available via the city channel website at www.pcma-tv199.org. For more information, please contact Hanson at (386) 986-2485.
